Educational Leadership and Administration
The SAGE Library of Educational Thought and Practice major works series encapsulates and disseminates the seminal works in the field of educational science and collects together those articles and essays which have been most influential in shaping and driving the discipline.

Each multi-volume set presents readers with a collection of both classical and contemporary published works sourced from the foremost publications in the field by an internationally renowned editor or editorial team. Each set includes a full introduction, presenting a rationale for the selection and which contextualises the major work within the discipline, and gives students, researchers and academics insight into the past, present and likely future of that area of research.

The series covers both key approaches to studying education theory and the primary sub-fields which form the focus of educational practitioners’ work.

The SAGE Library of Educational Thought and Practice is an essential addition for all libraries throughout the world with an interest in Education.

Fenwick W. English is the R. Wendell Eaves Distinguished Professor of Educational Leadership in the School of Education at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is the editor of the 2006 SAGE Encyclopedia of Educational Leadership and Administration, and the 2005 SAGE Handbook of Educational Leadership. In higher education he has been a department chair, dean, and vice chancellor of academic affairs. He is a former President of UCEA (University Council of Educational Administration).

Jacky Lumby is Head of Institutional and Professional Development Research Centre at the University of Southamton. Her main interests are in leadership and management, particularly in 14–19 and post-compulsory education. Her research has encompassed studies of the practice of school and college leader/managers at all levels in the UK and internationally.

Rosemary Papa is the Del and Jewell Lewis Endowed Chair in Learner Centered Leadership at Northern Arizona University. Her main areas of teaching are education policy, ethical decision making, adult learning and uses of technology. She has published more than eighty articles in academic journals including Reading Improvement; Teacher Education Quarterly and The International Journal of Educational Management.

Eugenie Samier is Associate Professor at Simon Fraser University. Her general scholarly interests are in philosophy, literary and cinematic critique and history and biography of administration and leadership; international comparative educational administration; Weberian studies; organisational culture and aesthetics and administrative ethics.

Allan David Walker is Chair Professor and Chair of the Department of Educational Administration and Policy at The Chinese University of Hong Kong. His research interests include principalship preparation and development, cultural influence on school leadership, school improvement, strategic planning, professional learning communities and leadership needs analysis.
